Summary

This articulation agreement development project led to the creation of transfer pathways from several college programs at Collège Boréal and La Cité to programs at the Université de Hearst.

Twenty pathways were developed between high-affinity college and university programs. Pathways were developed between the Child and Youth Worker, Early Childhood Education and Developmental Service Worker college programs and 3-year BA and 4-year BA programs in Psychology at the Université de Hearst. Other pathways were developed between Social Service Worker, Social Service Worker - Gerontology, General Arts and Science – university stream and General Arts and Science college programs to unique 3-year BA programs and 4-year BA programs in Human and Social Issues Studies at Université de Hearst.

Project Objectives

Generally, Collège Boréal, Collège La Cité and Université de Hearst are committed to fostering the continuum of postsecondary education for Francophone and bilingual students in Ontario and to collaborating on the development of new transfer pathways. The partners agree that this collaboration must promote excellence in learning, greater access to postsecondary programs in French and more mobility between institutions, among other things.

Through this project, the partners wanted to create transfer pathways to allow college graduates of the Early Childhood Education, Child and Youth Worker, General Arts and Science, Social Service Worker, Social Service Worker - Gerontology and Developmental Service Worker programs to pursue their studies at Université de Hearst and obtain a bachelor's degree under the "two years of college, one year of university" (2+1) or "two years of college, two years of university" (2+2) formula. This project therefore had two objectives:

- To expand existing transfer pathways between colleges and other universities to Université de Hearst programs to serve Northeastern Ontario;
- To develop new pathways, especially to interdisciplinary programs in Human and Social Issues Studies unique to Université de Hearst.

More specifically, the partners planned to explore "1+2," "2+1" and "2+2" transfer agreements involving several college and university programs.

Université de Hearst planned to grant up to two full years of transfer credits, i.e., 60 of 90 credits (2+1 agreement) toward bachelor of arts degrees with a concentration, and 60 of the 120 credits (2+2 agreement) toward specialized bachelor of arts degrees.

The partners' ultimate goal was to enable clients to pursue relevant, enriching and complementary training at participating institutions and to grant them the maximum number of transfer credits while maintaining the quality and value of credentials obtained in the interests of the students and the educational institutions.

This collaborative initiative also took account of the report by the Far North East Training Board<sup>1</sup> which expects a large number of job openings in north eastern Ontario over the short and medium terms in fields identified by this project.

Transfer Pathway Development

Methodology

This project was completed in steps. The first two steps form the basis of this project.

1. Approval by the Senate of Université de Hearst of an institutional strategic initiative for Francophone and bilingual transfer pathways containing a three-year plan (March 2017);
2. Preparation of the ONCAT funding application (November 2017);
3. Collection, transmittal and exchange of curricula and course outlines for the programs under review and other relevant information about them;
4. Visits by Université de Hearst representatives to La Cité and Collège Boréal to meet with teaching and administrative teams;
5. Detailed analysis of programs and course outlines by each of the teaching units concerned;
6. Preparation of pathways, including the identification and number of credits recognized by Université de Hearst;
7. Commencement of a formal process to obtain the approvals required from decision-making bodies:
  - a. Université de Hearst Senate
  - b. File sent to the Vice-President, Laurentian University for validation of compliance with the procedure, along with a letter of response from the Vice-President of Université de Hearst
  - c. Validation by the Vice-President, Academic and Provost of Laurentian University of the file submitted and compliance with procedures
  - d. Confirmation by the Vice-President, Academic and Provost of Laurentian University that the file has been processed and can continue on to the next steps
  - e. Agreements signed between Collège Boréal, La Cité and Université de Hearst
  - f. Submission of the agreements to the Senate of Laurentian University for information

Program Comparison and Analysis

The standards of each college program and the respective mandatory course outlines were analyzed and evaluated by comparing them to the university program's mapping and objectives. In performing the analysis, faculty members used the following guidelines:

- Course bibliography (relevant and up-to-date);
- Course objectives had to reflect advanced expertise in analysis, synthesis and critical thinking;
- The types of assignments had to reflect achievement of the specified objectives;
- Specified notions and concepts: number, relevance and level of complexity.

Generic credit equivalencies were assigned for knowledge and skills that could not be linked to a course with its own course code. Once compulsory and elective course equivalencies were identified for the university program of study, a new pathway was created for graduating cohorts of the college programs in question. These new pathways will allow these cohorts to reduce the length and cost of their university education in light of the knowledge and skills they gained from their college education.

Institutional interest in establishing "2 + 1" and "2 + 2" agreements guided project coordination work.

Implementation Process

As soon as the approval process for all agreements has been completed, the following teams will be informed about details concerning all pathways contained in the agreements:

- The Office of the Registrar
- The Liaison and Communications Office
- Members of management
- Faculty members
- The Laurentian University Admissions Office

The next step is to develop promotional tools, post the agreements on various web sites (Ontransfer.ca, Collège Boréal, La Cité, Université de Hearst, etc.) and have the respective teams of the three institutions develop communications and liaison strategies. The agreements will be posted on the various sites mentioned above no later than April 1, 2019.

Summary of pathways created

New Pathways Between Collège Boréal, La Cité and Université de Hearst

All agreement transfer pathways will reach the signing stage by March 31, 2019.

Best Practices and Lessons Learned

To complete this project and ensure its success, inter-institutional communication kept the project on track and allowed it to make progress in the early stages as set out in the work schedule. Communication among the faculty teams at all three institutions played a key role in the project's success. The project managers effectively launched the project by presenting its objectives and the work schedule to their respective team, and ensuring that the work advanced on schedule.

Given the high-affinity of the programs under review, the equivalency objectives set were realistic.

Occasional reminders of the Institutional Strategy for Francophone and Bilingual Transfer Pathways at Université de Hearst were helpful. Demographic realities, the Ministry's vision, the place that experiential learning should play were all important factors underlying the analyses.

Conclusion

The three institutions are satisfied with the project and its results, despite a few delays in the agreement approval process by the Senate of Université de Hearst and the procedure used by Laurentian University. We managed to create transfer pathways beneficial to college program graduates, thereby enriching training opportunities in Northeastern Ontario and for Francophones.
